Grantchester recommission for ITV for 10th Series

Fan-favourite crime drama Grantchester has been commissioned for a tenth season for ITV and MASTERPIECE PBS in the US.

Robson Green and Rishi Nair will star as DI Geordie Keating and Reverend Alphy Kottaram respectively. The ninth series in which Tom Brittney (Reverend Will Davenport) leaves, and newcomer Rishi Nair is welcomed into the cast, is expected to air on ITV in 2025.

In addition to Robson and Rishi, other returning cast members include Al Weaver as Leonard Finch, Tessa Peake-Jones as Mrs. C, Kacey Ainsworth as Cathy Keating, Oliver Dimsdale as Daniel Marlowe, Nick Brimble as Jack Chapman, Bradley Hall as DC Larry Peters and Melissa Johns as Miss Scott.

Writer and Executive Producer Daisy Coulam said, “This show is a testament to our lovely team - the cast and crew. I’m so grateful and proud that we get to come back together for our tenth season and another glorious summer in Grantchester!”

Emma Kingsman-Lloyd, Executive Producer added, “We are so delighted by the audience reaction to Grantchester and appreciate that they have enjoyed so many episodes. We are overjoyed to be filming our tenth series and bringing more of Geordie and Alphy's adventures to the screen.”

ITV Drama and Comedy Assistant Commissioner Callum Dziedzic said: “Grantchester is so beloved by everyone - the audience, the channel and the wonderful cast and crew who bring it to life with such passion. We are absolutely delighted to have commissioned another series and can’t wait to follow up series 9 with even more mystery, misadventure and romance.”

Grantchester is a Co-Production of Kudos (a Banijay UK Company) and MASTERPIECE for ITV. Banijay Rights handles international distribution for the series.

MASTERPIECE Executive Producer Susanne Simpson says, “I couldn’t be happier to recommission Grantchester for a 10th season. This is hands-down one of our most popular series and I know the fans will be thrilled to see it continue with the outstanding Robson Green and Rishi Nair back for more crime-solving.” MASTERPIECE is presented on PBS by GBH Boston.

Filming on series 10 will begin in July.
